For Smart Women

THE uneven hem line is now an established fact. The great problem is how to achieve it. Women don't want the draped gown which so easily could let drop a bit of fabric now and then, because it reveals too much of the figure and because, too, it is difficult to handle. Therefore the uneven hem line must be accomplished by means of a straight skirt as a foundation, which is either cut in scallops, points or squares (which is far from new), or left straight and overhung with the old panels or lengths of material either loose hanging or stitched down on one side and dropping a jagged edge below the skirt. The swinging side panels are the most popular method now seen employed, and considerable variety is gained by the trimming of these panels, which are sometimes of the stock material either plain or elaborated with embroidery or fur, or bands of contrasting color and fabric, while at other times the panels are of chiffon elaborated with bands of the stock material and perhaps some fur and embroidery for further elegance.

FEEL THAT SLIPPING? EARTH'S GOING NORTH

Foot a Year, Astronomers Say, and Even the North Pole Isn't Safe.

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Dec. 30 (Associated Press).—Fragmentary contributions to the mass of astronomical research, representing investigations of a year by scientists throughout the United States, were presented yesterday to members of the American Astronomical Society at the opening sessions of their yearly meeting in Great Observatory at Swarthmore College.

Great interest was shown by the sixty members of the society attending the meeting in the paper read by Walter D. Lambert, mathematician of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey and attached to the Ukiah Observatory, California. His discussion related to earth movements revealed, he declared, by observations at Ukiah that unmistakably indicate a change in latitude. The earth, he believes, is shifting toward the North. Computed in terms of time and space, the Ukiah Observatory has been moving north at a rate of a foot a year during the period from 1906 to 1921.

Interest was displayed by the astronomers as to the cause of this phenomenon. Whether it is a local movement of the crust of the earth, or due to a shifting of the North Pole to the south, caused much speculation. Some believed the apparent movement of the earth northward was attributable to errors of observation in large part.

HIRSHFIELD WINS IN COURT ROUND OVER LEO'S CASE

Summons Secured by Former Street Cleaning Head Refused.

Magistrate Marsh last night denied the application for a warrant and dismissed the summons obtained by former Street Cleaning Commissioner Leo against Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield, who he charged had given out false information regarding Leo's resignation.

The Magistrate held that, under the decision of the Court of Appeals and of Supreme Court Justice McAvoy in the recent trial of Hirshfield on a charge of libel, the testimony taken before the Commissioner is privileged and that whether true or false the Commissioner cannot be held responsible for making it public.

Mr. Leo has made a statement regarding the purchase of snow which, briefly, is as follows:

When he assumed office he found the city was paying a private firm $14 a day for the lease of snow, and that the total cost was $200,000 a year.

He reduced this amount by at least $150,000 by securing snow leases at $7 a day. He found the city was renting two side-dumper snows from F. P. Eastman, who had a patent on the device, and was paying $75 a day, or a total of $54,000 yearly rental.

After negotiations with the owner, Commissioner Leo received an offer to sell the snows to the city for $50,000, or $4,000 less than the annual rentals.

The sale was arranged through the Board of Estimate with the consent of the Comptroller's office; all of the facts being a matter of official record. In conclusion Commissioner Leo said:

"It is not necessary for me to make any criticism of the vicious attempts by the Commissioner of Accounts to defoul me through the columns of the press; whether it was done at the behest of the gang, the orders of his master or in revenge for my uncoincidental contempt for him and his methods, he best can answer."

MAN WOMAN CAUGHT SENTENCED TO PRISON

Miss Kelly Nabbed Him on Fifth Avenue as Shoplifter.

Samuel Rosen, who said he lived at Mills Hotel No. 2 and, the police say, has been convicted, many times for shoplifting and once for first degree robbery, was sentenced today in Special Sessions by Justice McInerney, Salmon and Healy to from six months to three years in the penitentiary for the theft of a pair of gloves, valued at $2.38, from the Healy department store on 14th Street.

Miss Mabel Kelly of the Stores Mutual Protective Association, pursued the man, overtook him at 14th Street and Fifth Avenue and held him until men on duty overpowered him. Because of his record he was held in $10,000 bail, the highest ever exacted for shoplifting, pending trial.
